

Headshot and Promotional

Actors, models, performers, and business professionals frequently need promotional portraits for use in advertising and self-promotion. In the industry, these are commonly referred to as “headshots.”

Until now, obtaining quality headshots typically meant several trips to New York, and the associated New York prices and service.

Photography by Dennis P Kelly now offers area business professionals as well as aspiring actors, models, and musicians a terrific alternative, right here in South Jersey.

We offer several levels of promotional photography services, from the most basic to the most elaborate, but they all have the following things in common:

- Superb quality images done in a creative, flattering style.
- Quick turn around. Often 2 weeks or less.
- Minor retouching included for all images. Don’t worry about minor blemishes or wrinkles, basic digital retouching is included.
- All packages include original high-resolution digital files and a reproduction license so you can use them to promote yourself and your business!
